

BEST PRACTICE -I

Promoting value-based education: Upholding moral integrity in all spheres of life has never been easy in our nation. In order to solve the problem, our organization considered giving particular attention to initiatives that promote value-based education, the synthesis of ancient and modern knowledge, and more recent fields of socioeconomic experimentation. Various talks by distinguished speakers have addressed a variety of topics, including the philosophical view of the universe, the value of environmentally friendly production methods, and the need of a morally and ethically sound social code. Some of the activities we've done over the past year include celebrating Students' Week, hosting seminars and workshops with learned monks from Ramkrishna Mission and similar institutions, and offering daily online meditation.
